Manzo Tells About The Plots To Escape.

Domenico Manzo, when before the court last Thursday to be sentenced for the attempt to break jail, on his plea of guilty, revealed the whole story of the plot to escape from the county jail, and in doing so implicated A. Borello, his confederate in the burning of the Summit House. Judge Wood before sentencing him questioned him as to his early life, and how he came to be mixed up in the arson matter. He, by means of an interpreter, said that Borello was the cause of it. At the time the proposition was first made to him he had only $20. At first he refused the proposition to set fire to the hotel. Borello was persistent, and he finally consented, being out of work and with little money. He was promised $100 in money and all expenses, and told that he would receive the money from Lepori. He also told how he and Borello got the file which aided them in the attempt to escape from jail. Also that Borello had proposed to Manzo to seize the deputy sheriff and lock him up, and thereby effect their escape. Also to hit the sheriff with a piece of iron, for the same object, but he steadfastly refused to be a party to these schemes. Borello also wanted a letter written so that a pistol would be smuggled into them by having a friend visit them. Manzo was sentenced to 2½ years on the charge of jail breaking. He had previously been sentenced to ten years on the arson conviction. The sentences run concurrently, so the last received sentence will add nothing to his term of prison life.

Jackson Again Defeats Angels.

The Jackson baseball team went to Angels last Sunday to play a return game with the team of that town. Quite a number of Jackson people went over to witness the play, as the previous game on the Jackson ground was so well contested that much interest was manifested in the outcome. The game, however, was disappointing from a scientific standpoint, and did not come anywhere near the play of the previous game. The laurels again fell to the Jackson boys, with a score of 12 to 10. Following is the official score of the game.

Charges Against School Teacher Dismissed.

The board of education met in special session in Jackson on Monday last, for the purpose of considering the charges preferred by W. E. Speer against Nellie Hanley, of obtaining her teacher's certificate by means of fraud, namely by copying or referring to text books while examination was in progress. The accusations were made on information and belief, but it was claimed by the accuser that witnesses would be on hand to substantiate them at the proper time. At the hearing, however, not a single witness was produced to back up the charge. It appears that a misunderstanding arose in regard to subpoenaing witnesses for the complainant. The accuser wanted this done at the expense of the public. Of course this would have involved getting witnesses for the defense also. The board held that each side must produce witnesses at its own expense. Saturday afternoon Mr. Speer filed with the secretary of the board a withdrawal of the charges in writing.

The board met in open session, any one having the right to witness the proceedings. Miss Alice Gartin was elected president for the ensuing term. W. J. McGee was present as attorney for the accused. Neither Speer nor any one else was present to back up the charges. The charges were read, also the withdrawal of the same. The board refused to allow the charges withdrawn, so far as stopping the investigation was concerned. Four witnesses were examined in behalf of Miss Hanley, namely, Miss Pearl Tanner of Sutter Creek, Miss Kelly of Amador, Miss Byra Porter of Defender, and Geo. F. Mack, who with J. E. Wylie conducted the examination at which the alleged fraud is said to have been perpetrated. All testified that the examination was fairly conducted in every respect, and that Miss Hanley did not resort to any unfair method in securing her certificate.

After hearing the testimony, the following resolution was adopted.

Whereas, W. E. Speer having preferred charges of fraud in obtaining her teachers certificate against Miss Nellie Hanley, and whereas on the day appointed for trial Mr Speer was not present with his witnesses, but filed a withdrawal of said charges, which the Board of Education refused to accept, and thus he failed in any way to substantiate the charges, and the Board of Education having taken the testimony of several persons who were present in the room at the time the alleged fraud, said to have been committed. Now therefore, be it resolved the charges against Miss Nellie Hanley be dismissed as unfounded and that she be exonerated.

MINING NOTES.

Bay State Mines.—The property heretofore known as the Bay State and Rhetta claims, situated about four miles north of Plymouth, on the trend of the main gold bearing lode, is now operated by the Amador Gold Mining Co., a company organized principally with outside capital for the express purpose of working the ledges comprised within the large tract of land embraced within these claim. We are pleased to state that under the superintendence of H. G. Torrence, an expert miner of large experience in Colorado and other mining states, the properties are being opened up in a systematic and business like manner, with very encouraging results. Indeed, from authentic accounts received of the operations, it begins to appear that after so many years of ups and downs, these mines are entering upon a permanent era of prosperity. Senator Nixon of Nevada is largely interested in the company, and indeed it was largely due to his efforts and support that the present company was induced to take hold. The surface works have been put in fine shape, repainted throughout. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 1184 feet, and a ledge of good milling ore has been encountered at this depth. It is 8 feet wide, and has been followed for a distance of 132 feet on one side and 61 feet on the other, with the end of the ore chimney not yet in sight. The ten stamp mill has been kept running on this ore for some time, with gratifying results. The full width of the ledge is sent to the mill, without any sorting. The last clean-up, we are informed, yielded an average of 85.18 per ton, which is certainly a splendid showing, and places the mine in the dividend paying class. The company contemplated making extensive additions and improvements to the plant, and when this is done the stockholders expect to be repaid handsomely for the capital invested. The success of the Bay State means much for the whole north section of the county. The Plymouth Consolidated in its bonanza days surrendered gold at the rate of a fraction over $6 per ton on an average.

Bunker Hill.—From the report of operations of the six months ending June 29, 1909, the mill was operated for 167 days and 29 hours, and crushed 16,844 tons of ore. The yield, including sulphurets, $100,932.30 being an average of nearly $6 per ton. The operating expenses for the six months were $63,177.89. Seven dividends were paid of $6000 each, or a total of $42,000. The surplus July 1st was $65,850.37. Everything about mine and mill looks very encouraging, justifying the hope of continuous monthly dividends at the same rate atleast for an indefinite period.

Pioneer Lady Dies.

Mrs Catherine E. Stasal, after a long period of illness, incident to extreme age, passed away at her home on Church street, in this city, on Tuesday evening. Deceased was a pioneer settler of Amador county. She was born in Bavaria, Germany, and emigrated to America in 1852, first settling in Louisville, married Sept. 24, 1855, and with her husband came to California the same year by way of Panama, during the time of the Walker expedition. After reaching San Francisco, they went to Sacramento, and from there to Amador county, residing for a short time in the flourishing town of Volcano. They removed to Jackson, where the major part of life was passed by both deceased and her husband, the latter preceding her to the grave about 12 years ago. She was 83 years of age, and a member of Jackson Ketchikan degree lodge for many years. She leaves two daughters—Misses Margaret and Rosa Stasal to mourn the loss of a devoted and affectionate mother. She retained consciousness to the end. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon. Impressive services were held at the residence conducted by Rev. T. H. Nicholas, after which the remains were laid to rest by the side of her husband in the city cemetery, the members of the Ketchikan lodge taking charge of the ceremonies.

Grand Army Badge.

D. R. Anthony, blacksmith at the Argonaut mine, is a veteran of the civil war. He has recently received a medal or badge issued by the Nat. Dep. of Penn. G. A. R., commemorative of the decisive battle of Gettysburg, in which sanguinary three days' conflict he took a part, as a member of Company B, 143 Penn. The badge is in two parts, and made of bronze and from cannon captured in that battle. One side of the medallion bears the profile of General P. J. Delacy, one of the department commanders. On the reverse side is a residence which was used as the headquarters of general Meade during the three days' battle. The medal used was struck off in June, 1909, and sent to all participants in that great struggle. It is needless to say that it is highly prized by the recipients, who will treasure as of priceless value during life, and hand it down as an heirloom to their posterity.

In Memoriam.

Whereas—The upper, Chief Ranger on high, has seen fit to remove from amongst us, our esteemed brother, Jas. Bennett. Therefore—be it resolved that we recognize in our late brother that the Court has lost an enthusiastic and a devoted husband and father and a friend steadfast and true. Therefore—be it resolved that the heartfelt sympathy of Court Unity No 7796 A. O. P. be extended to the bereaved family of our late brother, for in him we have lost one whose excellent qualities won for him the respect and friendship of all who knew him, as he was always ready to help in a good cause.

We can truly say of him: Tho, dear brother thus hath left us, Here thy loss we deeply feel; Yet 'tis God that hath bereft us, He can all our sorrows heal. Resolved: That the resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Court, and a copy of the same be tendered to the family of our late brother. Resolved: That the charter of the Court be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and that said resolutions be printed in the local papers.

Father Walsh Visits Jackson.

Father Walsh is visiting George Murphy at Butte. Father Walsh is a member of the celebrated Paulist Missionaries, and is now stationed in Chicago. He was born in San Francisco, and is well known in Jackson. When old St Mary's in San Francisco which was destroyed by the fire, was dedicated a few weeks ago, it was Father Walsh who delivered the sermon. Father Walsh will preach at eight o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church on Sunday morning, and there is no doubt a great crowd will gather to hear the gifted orator of the Paulist Fathers.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to all kind friends who rendered assistance in any manner during the last illness and funeral ceremonies of our beloved daughter, Mamie Cassinelli, and especially to the choir for their services.

EXPERTING BOOKS.

It is a debateable question whether the board of supervisors have authority to appoint any salaried officer for any purpose, unless empowered to do so by express provision of law. Some time ago the board appointed J. S. Jack of Calaveras county to expert the books of county officers for the past four years, fixing the compensation for said work at $5 per day, reserving the right to annul the appointment at any time they saw fit. Under this peculiar appointment the expert has been at work for several months. There is no limit fixed within which the work must be completed, or the per diem must cease. The only reservation is that the board reserves the right to revoke the appointment at pleasure. This reservation may have been injected with the object of preventing the job from being spun out to an unreasonable length, or it may have been inserted for some other purpose. There is no telling how long a work of this character will last. It can be strung out for a long period of time, according to the elaborateness of the report to be made. In a blanket contract of this kind the term of the employment is largely within the keeping of the expert. So there is no telling how much the taxpayers will be called upon to pay for this experting business. That such an arrangement, even conceding its legality, must be viewed with disfavor by those who are called upon to foot the bills is beyond question. Certainly no prudent man in the conduct of his private business would dream of accepting this wide open contract as a model worthy of imitation. He would want to know beforehand something about the probable cost. Already this experting has cost several hundred dollars. There is no telling how much more it will cost before it is completed. If the supervisors elect to terminate the employment before the task is completed, all the money that may have been paid out for the unfinished product will have been wasted as far as practical results are concerned. The main questions to be determined by an examination of official books are twofold. 1st. Whether the books properly balance. 2nd. Whether the revenue of the county has been faithfully collected and disbursed in accordance with law. When these issues are squarely met by an expert's report, the public will be satisfied. On the other hand, if the investigation fails in these respects, no matter how elaborate in its details in other respects, it will fall short of its purpose in the estimation of the people. Taxpayers want to know whether the servants whom they have elected to transact the public business have faithfully and honestly discharged their duties.

The law provides that where the work to be done involves an expense of $300 or more, the same must be let by contract to the lowest responsible bidder. The wisdom of this provision is indisputable. We see no reason why the experting of public records should not fall within its scope. The experting in this case has already exceeded the limit, with the end still out of sight. To hire work of this kind done at so much per diem is far from being the safer or more commendable course.

Good roads and additional facilities for education are urged by the chamber of commerce as subjects of primary importance in Amador county. No one will question the value of these matters in the upbuilding of any community. If the good roads' movement aims to secure better results from the money expended for road purposes in this county every one will heartily cooperate to that end. If, however, it is aimed to raise more money from the taxpayers to be expended by the supervisors under the ruinously wasteful system that has prevailed for so many years, there is likely to be a sharp division of sentiment on such an issue. The newly organized chamber of commerce can find ample field for work outside of controversial questions, or issues which point to an increased tax rate. We do not believe the chamber of commerce desires to force any issue calculated to awaken a factional opposition.

CLEVER ART FORGERS

They Flood the Markets Abroad With Their Wares.

PARIS THE CLEARING HOUSE.

The French Capital is the Chief Mart For the Disposal of Imitation Antiques—Italy Leads in the Production of the Spurious Articles.

Italy has always been the classic soil for fabrications, but in some departments Holland and Paris run her close. Vienna has a specialty for rock crystal and thirteenth century gold work, Florence and Lucca for fourteenth century armor, London imitates the pate tendre of Sevres, Constantinople makes oriental weapons, Madrid Damascus swords, Dresden sculptured ivories, Aix-la-Chapelle pewter plate, Berlin Roman potteries, Amsterdam wrought iron, Rotterdam Indian porcelains, Odessa taras and antique jewelry, while Paris is the chief mart and clearing house for all these products.

Italian bronze statuettes, now so much sought, are turned out with dexterity and taste in Tuscany. It is said that it was from one of these foundries there issued the group of virtue oppressing vice, assigned to Gian Bologna, which is now the choice treasure of a celebrated French collection. Switzerland makes a specialty of Louis XV. repousse work.

As for renaissance and mediaeval jewelry, hardly a bit is real except what is in museums. It is not to be bought. In the disturbed epochs that followed the renaissance precious stones were broken from their settings and sold to meet urgent needs. The same need for extreme diffidence applies to the pretty bibelots of the eighteenth century, watches, chate-laines, bonbonnières. Of modern fabrication, too, is the enameled jewelry of the sixteenth century. Vienna turns it out to perfection. And so cunning are the makers that, for example, they take care that the ring on which a locket is suspended should show signs of friction, well aware that the buyer who thinks himself cute will look for this indication.

As for the peasant jewelry, now so much bought and sought in Florence on the old bridge and elsewhere, the genuine is long ago exhausted, for, after all, peasants own but a limited stock. It all consists of clever copies or more often tasteful combinations of old designs. The stones, too, despite their fine designations, are rarely anything else but those marvelously clever tinted rock crystals so ingeniously made in Switzerland and sold by the ton if desired.

Venice is the great depot for ebony inlaid with ivory, and cabinets incrust-ed with tortoise shell, once its glory and now in their decadence, are still the joy of traveling Americans on the lookout for bargains. Buy if the object pleases you, but do not when you pay your dollars imagine you are exchanging new lamps for old. As for old clocks, grandfather or other, there is not one genuine in a hundred. Ware ivories! They are generally bone or, worse still, celluloid aged by the help of tobacco or of that invaluable hand-maiden, licorice juice.

Nor does even glass defy the artificer. In the Museum of St. Germain can be seen Roman goblets, their out-sides incrust-ed with dirt, whose iridescence has been obtained by fish scales fixed upon their surface. Sometimes real bits of iridescent glass film are transferred upon a modern frame-work. Cologne turns out lachrymatory vases by the gross, not even troubling to copy the old shapes, but using the long narrow bottles in which cheap sweets are sold. These are buried in dung after being smeared with some concoction of which the secret is guarded, and in a little time they issue from retirement patinated and irides-cent. Old German and Bohemian glass is also excellently copied in Hamburg and Paris. Venice, too, has not forgotten its traditions and turns out its own old wares.

Sevres and Dresden innocently helped the counterfeiter by selling their not yet decorated pieces, if imperfect, for a trifle. On this genuine ground the forger worked with ease. This traffic has been stopped. Still the forger knows no obstacles or over-comes them, and false Sevres and Dresden are supplied by all dealers, and the purchaser rarely has the minute knowledge that will save him. In the eighteenth century oriental porcelains were openly made in England and Holland and sent to China for decoration, when they returned as real China porcelain, or the reverse process obtained. The porcelain was made in China and decorated in what was presumed to be the Chinese style in Europe. Paris at the present moment makes and exports old China porcel-ain, and many a tourist who buys a find at Hongkong or Shanghai merely brings back coals to Newcastle. Rhodian plates are made near Paris in absolute perfection. Except as a matter of sentiment there is no need to seek the old. Be cautious, too, in buying Greco-Roman pottery. It is mostly made at Naples.

Most of the genuine things were snapped up long ago or else are owned by museums or by the heirs of those for whom they were made and who do not need to part with them.—London National Review.

"I wonder if everybody will have what he wants a hundred years from now."

"I doubt it. The men will then probably be agitating for the suffrage."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Eat What

You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Department Ruling on Lode Claims

The general land office has issued the following in explanation of the mining regulations, which provides that—"The vein or lode must be fully described, the description to include a statement as to the kind and character of mineral, the extent thereof, whether ore has been extracted and of what amount and value, and such other facts as will support the applicant's allegation that the claim contains a valuable mineral deposit."

It seems that the expression, "the extent thereof" is being construed as meaning that the applicant must affirmatively show by proof of exploration that the vein exists in fact throughout the whole length of the claim.

This construction of the paragraph is erroneous. By the words quoted it was intended to require the claimant to show the existence of a vein in such workings as he relied on to establish a discovery. That being done, the presumption exists that the vein extends on its strike throughout the whole length of the claim as located. The sole purpose of that part of paragraph 41 quoted was to enable the land department to know, so far as applicant can reasonably show, the definite facts upon which the right to the patent is predicated so as to determine whether a valuable mineral deposit exists in the land claimed.

BUTTE MOUNTAIN MYSTERY SOLVED

The Suicide Identified as George H. Terrell of Oroville

The mystery of the tragedy on the top of Butte mountain has cleared up, as far as the identity of the suicide is concerned, although the cause to the self destruction remains unexplained. It appears his relatives saw a notice of the finding of the body in the Sacramento Bee, and at once by the description therein given reached the conclusion that the remains found were those of a missing relative who had disappeared about three weeks before. Under this impression two relatives, Miss Hazel Terrell, of Sacramento, and J. L. Terrell of Oroville, a sister and uncle of the deceased, arrived in Jackson on Saturday evening, and by the clothing and articles found upon the body, identified the remains as those of George H. Terrell, of Oroville. The sister returned to Sacramento Sunday, but the uncle remained over to testify before the jury, the inquest being set for Monday.

The coroner's inquest was held before H. E. Potter in the sheriff's office on Monday morning. Four witnesses beside the uncle were examined, namely: H. N. Mason, W. Connors, C. P. Vicini, and Dr. Endicott. The first named testified the circumstances surrounding the discovery of the body. It was lying on the north side of Butte Mountain, almost to the summit, face downward, a 38 caliber Smith & Wesson pistol was lying close to the right hand, the muzzle of the weapon resting against the stump of a brush, muzzle upward; only one chamber was discharged. Several cartridges of the same pattern were found in his pockets, also $2.25 in coin, a pocket knife, watch and chain. There were no footprints or tracks about the place, but 15 feet or so from the body a fire had been kindled, and the remains of a silk necktie were plainly discernible. Also a piece about three inches long had been cut from the sweat band of the hat, evidently for the purpose of destroying all marks that might lead to deceased's identity. There was nothing to indicate a struggle or that more than one person was present at the tragedy, but the witnesses were of the belief that a number of trips had been made between the point where the fire had been started and the place where the body lay.

G. L. Terrell testified to the effect that he was a dealer in liquor and cigars in Oroville, being a member of the firm of Terrell Bros. George H. Terrell was in the employ of the firm up to the 3d of June last. He had been employed by the firm since April, 1908. Last saw deceased alive in the store on the 3d of June last. He left without any notification, but asked to be let off half an hour earlier. He took the last electric train for Sacramento that night. Before leaving he took $10 from the register, leaving a tag, this being the amount owing him on a watch that had been pawned. He had a brother in the state of Nevada, E. R. Terrell, editor of the Beatty Miner, who had written him that he could get employment there; his friends naturally thought he had gone there. On the 11th of June his sister received through the mail a signet ring she had presented to him on July 4, 1903. There was no letter accompanying it. It was sent her in a Southern Pacific Co. envelope, and mailed in Sacramento. When this fact became known his friends began to make inquiries. The brother in Nevada was written to, and answer returned that he had not been there, and furthermore that he had written to the missing man and had received no answer.

He recognized the pieces of clothing produced, taken from the coat and shirt worn by deceased, as belonging to G. H. Terrell. He brought with him the deceased's vest, which corresponded to the coat and pants, and was in fact a part of the same suit. He identified the hat as belonging to George Terrell. Before he left Oroville he made inquiries, and found that his nephew had brought a hat of the Goldstein store in Oroville, recognized the watch produced as that of his nephew. It was an Elgin, 17 jewel watch. Also recognized the teeth by the dentistry work—the filling. He was positive the remains were those of his nephew, G. H. Terrell. Deceased was born in Greenville, Plumas county, and was 21 years old on the 13th of April last. He was a man of good habits did not drink nor use tobacco in any form; was well read, was not eccentric nor disposed to insanity; he had not the least idea of why he should take his own life; he was a great reader; did not know of his keeping company with any young lady. He was fond of walking, and disposed to ascend the loftiest peak in any strange place he might visit. He had no enemies. When he left home he may have had from $35 to $40.

Over Thirty-Five Years

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Jackson Drug Store, Spagnoli, prop.

While the uncle was unable to give any probable cause for the life-taking, he said the deceased was of a reserved and retiring disposition; he was not inclined to talk to strangers, and made few friends, although liked by all who knew him, he was of a proud spirit, and to this he attributed the evident desire of the deceased to avoid detection; he shunned the disgrace attaching to self-destruction. He was of a cheerful disposition, and had never before wandered forth unknown to his friends. He knew a person in Jackson named Lawrence, but did not meet him when he reached here on his mission of suicide, neither did he stop at any hotel here, as far as known.

The report of Dr. Endicott, who performed an autopsy upon the body, was read to the jury. It stated that he found the canine tooth was crowned and a bridge tooth attached to same; the upper left incisor tooth was filled with gold on the median side; there was the possibility of a bullet hole in the left side in the region of the heart, decomposition was so far advanced as to make an autopsy difficult, as far as determining the exact cause of death.

The jury, which was composed of the following persons, H. A. Clark, J. S. Garbarini, A. W. Stone, Sam Harris, R. H. Fortner, W. Dalponta, C. B. Arditto, N. Drevchio, M. W. Ford, W. H. Carley and J. P. Meito, returned a verdict that deceased came to his death on about the 15th of June, 1906, by a gunshot wound inflicted by himself with suicidal intent, to the best of our belief according to the testimony of witnesses examined.

The remains were interred in the city cemetery at 5 o'clock Monday evening, in a private plot paid for by the relatives, who are all of moderate means, and were unable to go to the expense to have the body shipped to Oroville for interment. This would have entailed considerable expense owing to the decomposition of the remains.

BEARS GENERALLY JOLLY.

But Sometimes One Comes Along With a Settled Grrouch.

"Rarely are bears born ill tempered. They may show some resentment at the time of their capture when but two months old, but this feeling soon disappears, leaving a jolly rogue ever willing to box and wrestle. I once knew a cub that was a regular terror," says a writer in Collier's, "and he never reformed. He would attack anything regardless of its size or strength."

"At the age of three months he would charge at me, snorting, sniffing and, striking with his tiny paws, and when I did not protect myself he seized my trousers leg between his teeth and shook it violently."

"At first I thought that he had been abused by his former owner and that by kind treatment he would soon outgrow his temper; but, no, he just had it in him, and he became more and more dangerous as time sped by."

"Finally he grew large enough to be put in with the mature bears without danger of his squeezing between the bars and escaping, and to the surprise of every one he immediately took charge of the den. Old bears twenty times his size, possibly from some sense of honor, if animals have honor, submitted to cuffs and slaps in the face and actually allowed him to snatch food from their mouths without resenting the insult."

A CLEVER SWINDLE.

Ingenious Scheme Worked by a Parisian Vagabond.

The manager of a fashionable Paris restaurant fell into a neat trap not very long ago. A man named Daval, who had only recently been released from prison, called a cab and told the driver that he was the Count d'Abbeville and that he had bet a friend a large sum of money that, dressed in a tramp's rags, he would eat a dinner at one of the most exclusive hotels. If the cabman would arrange the matter for him with the manager of the hotel the count would pay him handsomely.

The cabman drove up to a luxurious restaurant, took the manager aside and whispered the information that his disreputable looking fare was really a count in disguise and then related the story of the bet. The manager fell into the trap, and the ex-prisoner was served with an excellent dinner with many wines.

The meal over, the man declared that he was no count and that he had no money. The manager laughed heartily at the splendid way his guest played his part, but by and by the truth dawned on him. A policeman was called in, and the ingenious swindler was led away, imperturbably smoking a five franc cigar.—New York Sun.

The Lion's Rush.

The wisest and most experienced can never tell what a lion will do. Lion hunting, to my mind, has a charm all its own. Nothing compares with it, and no driving of ravines or swamps or catching the great cat at his kill is comparable to the joy and steady excitement of tracking him down. He chooses the ground. You follow him into it. You pit yourself against him. Crouching flat against the yellow earth, perhaps covered only by a few inches of grass, he is almost unbelievably hard to see. His rush and spring from a few yards distance is the fastest thing in the world. No animal can escape it, much less clumsy, slow footed man. He has a chance to pay off on man, the universal lord and master, the wrongs of the animal world, and here in East Africa the lion's revengeful toll taken on human life and limb mounts high.—Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford in World's Work.

The Rubber Tree.

The "India rubber" plant—Ficus elastica—is a great tree in the tropical countries in which it flourishes, often reaching as much as a hundred feet high. Imposing, indeed, it looks in such conditions, with a vast leafy crown extending over forty or fifty feet outward on each side of the massive trunk and with immense buttressing roots twisting and winding along above the ground in such a way as to lead the natives of India and Ceylon to call it the "snake tree." Sometimes these roots grow up into the trees and make the tree look like the banyan, to which, it may be mentioned, it is botanically related.

The Usual Place.

"Can you swim, Corporal Brown?" asked an elderly major. "Yes, sir." "You can? Where on earth did you learn?" "Not on any earth, sir. I learned in the water!"—London Tit-Bits.

His Little Joke.

It was just two years after their wedding. "George," she said romantically as she gazed at the fantastic pictures the red coals formed, "do you remember our courting days?" George laughed teasingly. "No, my dear. I do not."

She looked up with a hurt expression. "George, do you mean to sit there and say you do not remember our courting days? Why, I am shocked at your coldness."

"No, dear; I do not remember our courting days because only night watchmen have to do their courting in the daytime. But I do remember our courting nights, and they were delightful, pet."

But she said he was too horrid for anything.—Chicago News.

ESAW WOOD.

And the Story of the Saw Esaw Saw Saw Wood.

Esaw Wood sawed Wood. Esaw Wood would saw wood! All the wood Esaw Wood saw Esaw Wood would saw. In other words, all the wood Esaw saw to saw Esaw sought to saw.

Oh, the wood Wood would saw! And oh, the wood saw with which Wood would saw wood.

But one day Wood's wood saw would saw no wood, and thus the wood Wood sawed was not the wood Wood would saw if Wood's wood saw would saw wood.

Now, Wood would saw wood with a wood saw that would saw wood, so Esaw sought a saw that would saw wood.

One day Esaw saw a saw saw wood as no other wood saw Wood saw would saw wood.

In fact, of all the wood saws Wood ever saw saw wood Wood never saw a wood saw that would saw wood as the wood saw Wood saw saw wood would saw wood, and I never saw a wood saw that would saw as the wood saw Wood saw would saw until I saw Esaw Wood saw wood with the wood saw Wood saw saw wood.

Now Wood saws wood with the wood saw Wood saw saw wood.

Oh, the wood the wood saw Wood saw would saw!

Oh, the wood Wood's woodshed would shed when Wood would saw wood with the wood saw Wood saw saw wood!

Finally, no man may ever know how much wood the wood saw Wood saw would saw if the wood saw Wood saw would saw all the wood the wood saw Wood saw would saw.—Woman's Home Companion.

A PLUCKY LAWYER.

The Way Stewart Returned a Desperado's Threat.

"The late Senator Stewart believed in muscular Christianity, and many a rough and tumble fight did he have in the old days in California and Nevada," said a California congressman.

"He was not quarrelsome, but he was never known to run away from an encounter, and as he was a powerful man physically there were not many who were keen to tackle him. On one occasion a noted desperado was interested in a mining suit and sent word to Stewart, who was attorney for the other side, that if he appeared to argue the case he might count on being killed. The fellow had slain half a dozen men, but his threat in nowise intimidated the plucky young lawyer. The desperado had a well known system of hiding a pistol in his coat pocket and shooting his man without openly drawing the weapon. This, Stewart knew, and so when he walked into the courtroom the first thing he did was to lay down a bowie knife about a foot and a half long and a six shooter as big as a young cannon on the table directly in front of him. Then, sternly eyeing the bad man, he said: 'I hear you mean to kill me if I argue this case. That's a game two can play at. That pistol you have in your coat isn't worth a cent against this layout. The minute you put your right hand in your pocket I'll send a bullet into you, and if that doesn't finish you this knife will.'"

"An old miner who was present and told me the story said the fellow turned white as a sheet and slunk out of the courtroom to appear no more."—Baltimore American.

To Improve Flight.

During a big Presbyterian convention in 1865 a rhetorical Scotchman from Ohio got the floor. His speech was replete with mingled humor and sarcasm. In the course of it, says the Rev. Galusha Anderson in a book entitled "A Border City During the Civil War," he made this remark about his own eloquence:

"The speech of the brother from this city brought to my mind an experience of my school days. I wrote an oration and handed it to my teacher."

"When he had examined it he called me to him and said:

"Taylor, if you would only pluck a few feathers from the wings of your imagination and stick them into the tail of your judgment you would write a good deal better."

The Best Part of the Speech.

Young James had never heard his papa speak in public, and it was thought time to take him to hear his father deliver a lecture. During the evening a stray dog which ventured upon the platform was disposed of as gracefully as possible. On the way home James was asked how he liked his father's lecture and gave the answer, "It was all right, papa, but I liked the part where you put the dog out the best."—Delineator.

"Told me to stop making a fool of myself."

Life 100,000 Years Ago

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. To-day the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown of Alexander, Mo., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." To cure sore lungs, colds, obstinate coughs, and prevent pneumonia, it's the best medicine on earth. 50c and $1. Guaranteed by Spagnoli's Drug Store. Trial bottle free.

Tactful.

"Whatever made you make Brackins a present of a pocket comb? He's as bald as a billiard ball."

"That's just it. I want to make him think I never noticed it."

The Only Difficulty.

"The world owes me a living." "That's all right, old man, as long as you can get somebody to stake you while you are trying to collect the bill."—Boston Herald.

Few things are impossible in themselves. It is not so much means as perseverance that is wanting to bring them to a successful issue.

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble

HER GREETING.

In Spite of the Old Lady's Care She Managed to Blunder.

The daughters of a certain charming old lady in Washington are frequently much upset by the odd social blunders of their parent, whose failings in this respect are, however, more than offset by her kindness of manner.

Among the callers to the house of this family was a Mrs. Farrell, who, after some years of widowhood, again married, this time becoming the wife of a Mr. Meggs.

"If you love us, mother," said one of the girls when the newly married lady's card had been brought in one afternoon shortly after the completion of the honeymoon, "don't make the mistake of calling her Mrs. Farrell."

The mother solemnly promised to commit no faux pas and as she went downstairs was heard to repeat to herself, "Meggs—Meggs—Meggs—not Farrell."

At the conclusion of the call the old lady was met at the head of the stairs by the daughter, who at once observed an ominous expression of despondency on the old lady's face.

"Oh, mother," she exclaimed, "surely you didn't!"

"No, Clara," replied the mother emphatically, "I didn't. I was so careful to call her Mrs. Meggs all the time."

"Well, what's the trouble, then?" "Oh, dear!" murmured the kindly old lady, as she sank into a chair. "It was awful of me, I know! When I greeted her I said: 'I am glad to see you, Mrs. Meggs. How is Mr. Farrell?'"—Harper's Weekly.

Boy's Life Saved

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. Timber Resources of California

San Francisco, June.—It is estimated by the United States Forest service that the total amount of standing timber in the state of California approximates 228,480,000,000 board feet, of which 109,516,000,000 feet belong to the federal government, 1,580,000,000 feet belong to the state, and the remaining 117,384,000,000 feet are privately owned. Of the last figure given, the railroads own 3,655,000,000 feet.

About sixty-five per cent of the privately owned timber, or a total of 76,000,000,000 feet is found in the coast red-wood region—a narrow strip rarely more than thirty miles wide extending from Monterey county to northern Oregon. Very little of this class of timber, only a fraction of one per cent, belongs to the federal government, though it owns a considerable proportion of the total stand of bigtree or giant sequoia, the wood of which is very similar to that of the coast redwood.

The stand of government may be roughly divided as follows: On National forests, 94,800,000,000 board feet; on Indian reservations 3,500,000,000 feet; on National parks 8,000,000,000 feet; on on unreserved public land 3,216,000,000 feet, or a total of, 109,516,000,000 board feet.

The National forests now are in a practically virgin condition, where the annual growth of timber just about offsets the annual loss through decay, but with proper forest management and adequate protection the timber can be made to increase at an annual rate of at least one per cent of the present stand in other words, through proper supervision in cutting and adequate protection it is possible to cut about 1,000,000,000 feet of timber annually from the National forests in California for a practically limitless period, and this cut of timber far from depleting the forest resources would actually improve them. With this end in view, the forest service is selling as rapidly as there is demand for it the old and over-mature timber, which usually furnished the largest per cent of the clear grades. Under careful supervision the stand when cut over is left in excellent condition for growing a second crop of timber, and conservation is thus brought about by wise use.

Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Intending to visit a small village in Scotland, Archbishop Tait arranged to have his letters addressed to the local postoffice, which happened to be also the hamlet's general store. On the day of his arrival the prelate entered the shop and made inquiry if there was anything for the archbishop of Canterbury.

"Maybe you'll be that purrsen yourself?" the storekeeper suggested, without replying to the archbishop's question.

"Quite right," said Dr. Tait; "I am." "Weel," added the tradesman, "I have a son in a shop in London, and he told me he aine gae'd to St. Paul's cathedral to hear ye preach, and he was verra weel satisfied w' ye!"—London Home Journal.

An English View.

The slang of New York has its origin, of course, in the climate. It is the climate that has produced the terrible doctrine and practice of "hustle," and for people living in a wild chaos of competition, always in a blinding hurry and in the midst of a deafening din, language has to be pitched up high to cope with the circumstances. There is no time to pause nor any place in which an ordinary quiet phrase would be able to reach your ear. Language to produce any effect at all must be as quick and as violent as all else. A phrase that has not the properties of dynamite goes unheeded.—Max Beer-bohm in London Saturday Gazette.

A Diplomatist at Home.

"Mrs. Rawson has a dozen dresses handsomer than the only good one I've got," a young wife complained to her husband, who, a domestic diplomatist, merely remarked: "Of course. A homely woman like that needs plenty of rich gowns to draw attention from her face. Dress cannot heighten your charms, my dear!"—London Mail.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY

Reported weekly for the Ledger.

The Question of 100 Miles an Hour.—The Rubber Brake.—Steel Not Attached to the Magnet.—An Airship Direction-Pointer.—Another Imitation Rubber.—Straw Matches.—A Lecture-Lantern Novelty.—Hand-Size Magnet Crane.—Seed Endurance.

Whether railways shall use steam or electricity is a problem that Prof. W. E. Dalby, British engineering authority, believes must be determined by the speed desired. For ordinary service, with trains not exceeding 50 or 55 miles an hour, there is no more economical apparatus than the steam locomotive, but in gaining the great additional power necessary for higher speeds, the electric motors have the advantage of being free from the dead weight of the steam locomotives. The largest steam locomotive now used yields little more than 1,000 horse-power. An electric motor of 15 horse-power can be attached to every axle, and an ordinary train can easily utilize 12,000 horse-power. With this electrical equipment, the train can travel 100 miles an hour, with a weight of 1,200 tons. The enormous power must be supplied by the generating station, however, and between station and motors is a large investment in copper, while roads must eliminate present curves before cities 100 miles apart can be connected by trains running in an hour. The high speed electric trains are practicable if passengers will pay two or three times the present fares.

The new ship's rudder that has given remarkable results on motor boats is in two hinged halves opening like a book. When closed, it is an ordinary rudder; but when the wings are open, the water from the cork-screw action of the propeller strikes the flat surface, which acts so powerfully as a brake that the boat can be stopped with the engines still racing full speed ahead. With the rudder halves opened a little more, so as to incline forward, the vessel actually begins moving astern with the propeller still running ahead.

A remarkable peculiarity of manganese steel is its almost complete lack of magnetic properties. A bar of this steel balanced on a knife edge was not drawn out of balance by a powerful electromagnet, but when hammered into very thin foil the steel was lifted by the magnet. The cause of an airship results from both the forward motion due to the propellers and the drifting motion that may be set up from any cause, and to determine the true direction at any time the Siemens brothers of Berlin have devised a novel and important special instrument. It is a combination of horizontal and vertical telescopes mounted to rotate around a vertical axis. A prism reflects the images formed by the vertical telescope into one-half of the field of the horizontal telescope, the images of the latter filling the other half of the field of view, and lines on the prism run in vertical planes parallel to the axis of the horizontal telescope. As the balloon moves along, object on the earth's surface cross the field of view. The apparatus is turned on its vertical axis until these objects seem to be traveling in the direction of the lines in the prism, and the horizontal telescope will then point—forward or backward as required—along the horizontal direction in which the balloon is moving. The point on the horizon corresponding to this direction can be viewed through the eyepiece of the telescope.

One of the late substitutes for India rubber—patented in Great Britain and Germany by A. G. Inrig—is produced by mixing certain chemicals with animal refuse containing gelatin. Good results are obtained from 100 parts of animal refuse, 50 of water, and 20 to 30 of oil, which are stirred together for an hour, when potassium bichromate and sodium stannate are added in the proportion of 1 per cent of each. The liquid is then heated to 212 deg. F. for five minutes, or until sufficiently pasty, when it is poured into molds. For greater toughness and hardness, 20 per cent of oil, 1 per cent each of sodium stannate and potassium bichromate and 5 to 10 per cent of sulphur are added, and the mass is heated to 257 deg. F.

An improvement in matches, with a material saving in wood, is expected from the use for sticks of the straw of various grasses and cereals. Suitable machines cut the straw into lengths of two inches, and winnow it to get uniform size, and the pieces are then dipped in paraffine, and dried. The inflammable tips are then applied by dipping into the usual mixture of chlorate of potash, gum arabic, etc. The process is simple and practical, and on a large scale offers the advantages of wax matches at low cost.

The value of the stereopticon to lecturers, and especially to teachers, is likely to be much enhanced by a new device making unnecessary any assistant to manage the lantern. This is the idea of M. Moulin, of the School of Physics and Chemistry in Paris. A suitable drum rotated by a tiny electric motor carries a chain that picks up the slides from a box on the tube holding the lenses, passing them successively into the lantern, where a guide controls them,—and after use delivers them into a second box. The motor can be reversed, so as to throw on the screen any picture desired. The lantern, of course, is placed near the lecture table, and the various switches cooling the illumination of the room, the arc light of the lantern and the motor circuit are within easy reach. With his projection apparatus well in hand, the lecturer easily brings the slides into place as wanted, without the delay and annoyance of instructing assistant.

Sifting by electromagnets in large cranes has become an important means of handling heavy masses of iron and steel, and hand magnets are now proving a great convenience for picking up tacks, nails, screws and other material in store and factory. One type weighs but seven pounds, lifting a maximum load of more than ten times its weight. The magnet can be attached to an ordinary 110-volt, direct-current circuit, and is energized by closing the circuit by means of a push button on the handle. Besides the ordinary handling of hardware, such bits of service can be performed as drawing out pieces of metal otherwise difficult to reach. The vitality of seeds does not seem to be affected by extremes of heat and cold that no animal life can endure. Theoretically, says Dr. P. P. Blackman, they seem to be immortal. In late experiments, the heat boiling water and 200 deg. of cold both failed to take away the power of germination, and soaking in ammonia or corrosive sublimate does not affect it. Often seeds 87 years old that were planted by Becquerel, three at least proved to be capable of germinating and developing into plants.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement of each of its several ingredients—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulators act gently and cure constipation. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

OLD CADIZ.

Once Richer Than London, Its Chief Business Now Is Salt.

Of Cadiz, De Amieis said, "It is best described by writing the word 'white' with a white pencil on blue paper." Under the noonday sun, seen from the lofty Torre de Vigia, the medieval watchtower in the center of the city, its buildings are dazzling and almost encircled by the blue sea. A long, narrow isthmus like the stem of a pipe lends from San Fernando, on the mainland. Cadiz rests on the bowl of the pipe—yes, a pure white moor-schaum without coloring, though 3,000 years old.

Americans may justly regard this now decadent place with compassion, because it grew to greatness by its commerce with the new world—while Spain ruled the Americas—and then fell away into decay on the loss of the western possessions.

It was great before Rome was founded. And as late as 1770 it was wealthier than London. Commerce has ever been its life. Today its chief business is the production of salt for export. This humble staple, evaporated in countless shallow lagoons in wide spreading marshes, still keeps Cadiz in touch with the new world, as most of the salt is shipped to South America.

The natives pronounce Cadiz with "z" silent and "a" very broad—"Ca-di." That has always been its name, with slight variations. Its Phoenician and Tyrian founders called it Gadir, a castle of fastness. The Romans called it Gades. The Arabs had it Kadis.—Detroit News-Tribune.

Quite a Change.

"Percy is getting used to public speaking, isn't he?"
"Oh, yes. I remember when you could hardly get him to stand up, and now you can hardly get him to sit down."

Learn benevolence. It is the only cure of a morbid temper. To be happy you must forget yourself—Rulwer.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The road to Silver Lake is free of snow now and Silver Lake Lodge is open to the public, according to a letter just received by the Republican and Nugget, for Stevens & McKenney, who recently went in from this side. J. J. Byrne of Diamond Springs met with an accident while going over the summit. His 4-horse wagon tipped over on a snow drift and he was compelled to camp over night in the high altitude. Everything is fine around the lake now, and the fishing is splendid. Letters intended for Silver Lake should be sent to Round Top, Alpine county.--Nugget.

The United States Forest Service has adopted a uniform to be worn by the rangers of the national forest, consisting of a light olive green suit, wide-brimmed, soft hat, flannel shirt, and high mountain boots. In adopting a standard uniform the forest service desired to accomplish a twofold purpose, to enable the rangers to secure serviceable clothing at small cost, and to provide ocular proof of the authority of the rangers to administer the affairs of the service.--Nugget.

Accepting statements to be true, John Becker passed Monday in a state of drunkenness in a saloon at Long Barn, on the Sonora-Mono road, and conducted or owned by Harry McCandless. That night he was placed under a tree and a fire built near him to protect him from the cold. Before morning he managed to roll his left leg into the flame and so stupidly intoxicated was he that he did not feel the burning of his flesh, which was baked and shriveled from knee to foot. That his leg was not destroyed is a wonder, unless it be that the fire had dwindled away from it. His right knee was also scorched. Monday he was brought to this city and taken to the Sierra hospital. The flesh will slough and to save the limb there will have to be considerable skin grafting. At present there is no danger that amputation will be required. This is a sad example of a laboring man being stuffed with whisky after he had become drunk to the verge of insensibility.--Banner.

Some time during Wednesday morning of last week, the Postoffice was robbed of about $60. The office had been temporarily left in charge of young Squellati, who probably owing to the responsibility of his position was able to state just about what money was taken. It appears that a sack containing about $10 in coin had been left in one of the drawers. Young Squellati had occasion to go to the sack shortly after he had put it in the drawer, and found that two twenties a ten and a five in gold, he sides some silver was missing. The thief had evidently taken mainly gold from the sack thinking the loss would not be so quickly discovered. Probably the work was done by some one familiar with the office, and so far no clew has been obtained.--Prospect.

Dr. Harding, superintendent of the Hamby mine stood about as close to death last Saturday, as he ever will till the final summons comes. While showing some visitors about the mine, the party entered a small building connected with the works. There was a sagging wire carrying a heavy voltage of electricity to which the doctor called the attention of his visitors, warning them of its danger. The wire was high enough so that a short man could walk under it but would strike a tall man about the head. On emerging from the building Dr. Harding evidently forgot his warning and being a tall man, his head came in contact with the wire, his body receiving a shock of 17,000 volts. He instantly dropped to the ground apparently lifeless. The electric fluid had passed through his body, burning his shoes and leaving their impression burned into the ground, as though done with a hot iron. For an hour and a half they worked before the least sign of life appeared, then came a flutter of the pulse, a return of the heart action and then life. It took another hour before the patient really returned to life and then he was widely delirious for some time. He was finally taken to Paloma, where at present the is rapidly recovering.--Prospect.

Sees Mother Grow Young

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs W. L. Glpatrick of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health. They invigorate all vital organs, cure liver and kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50c at Spagnoli's Drug Store."
